

ExitLegacyWorkflow

STATUS REPORT

Your Notes Modernisation Readiness Report

The honest status (no forced deadline), the drivers worth weighing, and recommended next steps.

Compiled from public sources, reviewed August 2026

01 The honest status

HCL continues to support Notes and Domino. There is no vendor-imposed deadline forcing a migration. This report treats the decision as modernisation planning, not urgency management.

02 Drivers worth weighing

- Cost and maintenance overhead of a separate stack.
 - Shrinking pool of Notes-skilled staff.
 - Integration with the wider Microsoft or Google stack.
-

03 Recommended next steps

1. Inventory mail and applications separately.
 2. Triage applications; retire what is unused.
 3. Decide a destination per workload, not one blanket choice.
 4. Pilot the mail migration before committing to a full timeline.
-

SOURCES AND VERIFICATION

- CloudM: HCL Notes / Lotus Notes / IBM Domino to Microsoft 365 migration documentation
- Cloudiway: Lotus Notes migration approach
- Teamstudio: tools for HCL Notes and Domino data migration

Notes has no vendor-imposed deadline; HCL continues to support the platform. Figures from migration vendors are reported, not settled facts.